

Must-Play Golf Courses in New Zealand

From internationally recognized courses to local clubs, what sets New Zealand's more than 400 golf courses apart is their scenic locations – think coastal links and alpine fairways. Many of the exceptionally designed championship courses are also complemented by on par accommodation, activities, food and wine. Tee off at these must-play courses for a golfing experience like no other.

ROSEWOOD KAURI CLIFFS

Perched atop a cliff in the Bay of Islands, this par 72, 18-hole championship golf course boasts panoramic views of the Pacific Ocean. After warming up at the world-class practice facilities, golfers of all calibers can enjoy a diverse landscape of forest, farmland and marshes.

Off the green:

- Rosewood's elegant suites and villas all come with ocean views plus there's a spa sanctuary, tennis and pickleball courts, access to three private beaches and a dining room.

FABLE TERRACE DOWNS

Set in the foothills of the Southern Alps, this par 72, 18-hole high country championship course is an hour's drive from Christchurch. Scenic and enjoyable for all golfers, warm up at the driving range before hitting the green or sign up for on-site coaching lessons tailored to all skill levels.

Off the green:

- Fable's self-contained villas come with fully equipped kitchens or there's The Clubhouse Restaurant. On-site activities include archery, shooting and all-weather tennis courts.

TE ARAI LINKS

Drive 90 minutes north of Auckland to arrive at Te Arai Links. Two contrasting 18-hole pure links courses – North and South – are set within an undulating coastal landscape, playable for all abilities. Additional facilities include a two-acre putting green, driving range and short game area.

Off the green:

- Te Arai offers ocean view rooms, cottages and suites plus multiple drinking and dining options and an array of activities including watersports and in-room beauty treatments.

THE KINLOCH CLUB

Tee off at New Zealand's only Jack Nicklaus signature designed course, The Kinloch Club. Overlooking Lake Taupō, this par 72, 18-hole championship inland style links course has a reputation for being challenging and stimulating with its undulating fairways and fast greens.

Off the green:

- Contemporary luxury suites and residences, estate-to-plate fine dining and the Solar Spa are all available on-site at Kinloch Manor, just a two-minute drive from The Kinloch Club.

MILLBROOK RESORT

Home of the New Zealand Open, Millbrook Resort has two championship 18-hole alpine links courses set within a natural alpine amphitheater and backdropped by the Remarkables mountain range. Additional facilities include an undercover, heated driving range and putting practice area.

Off the green:

- Millbrook offers four types of accommodation, five dining options, an award-winning day spa and complimentary shuttle service to Arrowtown (3-minute drive) and Queenstown (20-minute drive).
